

I am in an apartment with my best friend calling my mountain neighbours. They barely know him and I get the phone to talk to them. I want to hear about the selling of the barn next to ours but in the meantime the hunter who tried to block the making of my ark comes in and we shake hands.

I am walking through a valley when the path gets very steep. There is actually a long flowerpot all along and I try to get hold of it while I keep on crossing. At first I think how good it is that there is that flowerpot but then I realize that without it the path would be larger and it would be easier.

I am running in a city and get ready to cross a bridge when I meet a man with a crowbar. He scares me and I turn around and run up to another bridge that is bigger. It leads me to a mall and I run back and find away to just cross to the opposite side even though some beams are missing.

I am at a mechanic with my partner. We are supposed to fix a cart and we have an appointment for it but there are many other people with carts before us. We then go to the waiting room but soon the people disappear and I go back down with the cart but my partner has put trash bags inside.

I am in a red sea container with the two men living there. They have done a good job renovating it and I enjoy the air flowing in from a fan. One of them goes out with a guitar and starts playing one of my favourite heavy metal songs. I want another one from the same band but he plays another.

I am walking in a forest with two signs I just stole. They are too heavy and I just leave them on the side and start running but hear a beast breathing. I then pick up two rocks and throw it in the direction of the sound. It is a big dog and as I try to throw the second one I can no longer see.

I am working in a market stand when a lady comes. She wants an omelet and as I prepare it for her she tells me how she and her sister bought an apartment in the area. I wonder how they could both afford it and she explains that they have both paired with their parents-in-law respectively.

I am leaving my van in our parking lot and walk to our backyard rolling up an electric cable. My neighbour is also doing the same but much more professionally. As I come next to him I see he has an opinion about what I am doing and I just slap him. He has not the courage to reply to me.

I am walking with a southern Italian photographer into a secondhand shop selling jewelry. My mother is also there and suggests me to buy a earring. I forgot I had a hole and pick a silver one but the photographer gives me a kiss and tells me it is our engaging earring. I am very disgusted.

I am in the parking lot of an hospital when a camera comes out to pull me to the side. An ambulance has to make in the garage and the camera takes camera of leading it but it is not perfect and the driver has to adjust the direction and then look what it wrong at a pile of discs underneath it.

I am walking on a road when my stepfather comes very fast with his electric bike. He forgot his bag in another city and asks me for the keys of my van. I then give them to him thinking it is a urgent matter but he just takes his time. I leave but then realize he doesn't know where the van is.

I am driving up a mountain road with my German artist friend and his family. I turn into a military road that leads to a tunnel that is too tight. I then follow another car turning up into the normal road again but the passage is also too tight. My friend explains how to do it but it is impossible.

I am with a girl at the entrance of a gym and she talks to the owner to see if I can try it out. I already did that once but he does not remember and let's me in. I then stand in the middle of a gym boxing against a big bag. There is another bag behind it making the first one bounce back at me.

I am in the mountains sitting on our field with an artist friend. He really wants me to give it to him to build a cabin. I then tell him he can use some of the fields below but that he will have to ask for all the permissions. He agrees and I slide with my body down the grass as if I was swimming.

I am at my ark with a group of girls. I want to explain them how it works and ask them to come inside but the ark has been all covered in a white cloth. One girl agrees to come in but I cannot even show her how the pixels work because a bar has been placed for people to drink alcohol.

I am in an apartment of a guy who seems poor. I don't want to stay there too long and greet him and his friends. As I am about to ask them if I can photograph them they realize that there are three wasps in the kitchen. I tell them to let them be but they make them angry trying to kill them.

I am standing outside a jail where my oldest son is kept captive. I am just waiting for him to come out with other prisoners and realize it is a good thing I came because I don't know when I will see him again. The guards first bring sausages out and then load them in a truck with my son.

I am approaching a stand selling juices and make sure that the lady standing behind me doesn't take my place. As my turn comes I ask the lady at the counter for a fresh juice and she tells me they use coconut as a base. I want some fresh fruit with it but she only has ice-creams or liquor.

I am walking through a crowded street and meet an English artist. I then ask her to join me to a terrace but then we also meet an Italian artist friend and I ask him to join us. He tells me that he cannot because he has check some photos he took with my partner and kids under water.

I am in a hotel room and go out to check the basin where my baker friend told me to do an installation. I first think it is inside a fountain but then he comes and shows me a nice looking round building. We go inside but I find that it is very messy and there is already a group of philosophers.

I am walking on a mountain path with a blonde man going on his racing bike. I suggest him to bike on a path on the side of the mountain but he tells me that he is not so trained to do it. He just doesn't listen to me and turn on another path that is much harder and goes straight up to the top.

I am in our new barn preparing my lunch when I get a phone call from my rich neighbours. I then go outside to talk to them but see that my partner is walking below with a friend but without our children. I hang up and start calling them but luckily she goes back and finds both of them.

I am inside a station when I get a phone call from an Italian scientist friend. She is outside the station and wants to meet and I run to her. I then tell her to get back in the station because I have to pee but she tells me that we can eat together in a restaurant and I can pee when we are there.

I am standing on a cliff of a mountain and realize that it is very scary. My youngest son is with a friend standing on another cliff but he is being very naughty and I find the courage to walk to his cliff an pull him out. I then take him inside a building with a bar but I have no money and leave.

I am on a beach and realize that my spiritual friend lives there. I then go to his apartment and find him inside. He let's me in but the floors are sticky and it is hard to walk. I reach the table and find a travel guide I sent him. It is featuring my ark but he is reading it all to learn of new places.

I am on a terrace with a hacker who just got in touch with a Russian company also in the hacking business. As I try to replace a leg of the table with one of the former legs the secretary of the Russian company ask the hacker to work for him and he starts to eat porridge out of excitement.

I am in a Dutch city making dough. It is too much and I go home to get a pot where to put it but meet my baker friend who reminds me that we should have dinner together. I only made tortellini but anyway just walk back to the place where I made the dough so that I can put it in the fridge.

I am in the mountains with my oldest son and discuss what we could do. He wants to go to an amusement park down in the plateau but in then decide to go on a trip with a boat. It takes us on a river to a giant gate on the other side of which is a Buddhist looking temple but it is hard to see.

I am in a supermarket and check an African immigrant buying a very thick carrot. She wants to use for a dish and the lady that hosts her shows that there are also normal carrots. The immigrant wants to keep the very big one so that she can remember the first time she went to do grocery.

I am checking my phone with a friend and discuss how to post a picture I just look on my profile. He then helps me to load it but we soon realize that it has nothing to do with all the other pictures. The profile is all about my art work in the mountains and we put the picture as an highlight.

I am trying to sleep on the floor of a small apartment and see that my parents are sleeping on a sofa. They actually calls everyone in the apartment to eat. There are several people and we get sausages from a lady owning a butchery. She is from my native highland and I suddenly remember her.

I am in an empty neighborhood of an Italian city and see my Polish friend living in a house on one hand. He actually comes out and I follow him from the distance. He is going to the place where we owned a house and I wait for him to go in. It is now fully abandoned and I want to lock him in.

I am in a big mall going up an escalator. My partner is actually coming down after talking to her father. The latter was very positive about our children and now she wants more. At the beginning I say yes but then realize it would be very hard on our little boy who lack our attention and care.

I am walking on a dirt road and see that there are some ropes on the street. I then realize that they are used for a rally and try to be careful. A van like mine starts driving down and I move to the side to see how it makes the curve. As it goes up again I notice that there are children driving it.

I am in our mountain village and go in a stable to greet my neighbour's wife. They just bought it from the nephews of another neighbour who recently died. She is actually too busy clean it but I notice that she was expecting me and there is a dish with a red soup for me standing on a wall.

I am walking with some friends on a highway along with other people. We actually decide to turn right on a smaller road and just show them our middle finger. The road seems nice and we keep on downhill but then we find an even smaller path next to a stream and try to walk on that one.

I am in an apartment with an Italian friend and his Indian wife. We talk about a park in a rich neighborhood and he admits that he has just inherited an apartment there. It must be very expensive and he says that he does not deserve it because he has been always living far from his relatives.

I am on a campsite with a guy trying to move a big timber. It could fall down on other tents and I help him to place it where it cannot roll. We then walk together out of the camp and see some girls waving at us. He does not care and tells me how he had to escape from a girl he was living with.

I am looking at a map of a Japanese city. I just want to see how far it is from another city but I cannot select it because there is a military airport. I then try to scroll more to the north and see that it is fully deserted with scattered trees. It looks like it is very hot even though it should be freezing.

I am in a room with an old woman praying an angel so that he can protect me. I then ask her if it is good that I present all the faces of my ark at once and she tells me to only present them singularly. I then draw one face on paper and she select only one texture out of the nine in the face.

I am in the apartment of a musician who has his children in the same school as ours. They are very mean and chase me with a sword. I also have a sword to defend myself but it is not as powerful. I finally get to leave and see that there is a book published by their mother used as a vase.

I am in a hotel where an old Dutch man is sleeping. A friend goes to wake him up and together we make it to a party in the headquarter of a newspaper. I then look at him approaching the window and realizing that it is faced directly on his hotel room. He is actually being spied on.

I am watching a movie about a superhero transformed into a bear on a public staircase. A much bigger bear arrives and puts him inside an old tower he has attached on his belt. The superhero tries to escape from the roof but it is closed too tight and he just has to accept his new destiny.

I am in the portico of my family old villa sitting with my relatives. My grandmother's brother is still alive and I realize that I have just married his wife so that if he dies she is not a widow. I also got to marry his beautiful daughter so that when the mother dies I also don't become a widow.

I am walking inside an apartment and find that my American curator friend and his sisters are leaving there. They are very pretty together and I make a family photo. The sisters then start cooking and I tell my friend how often I would be with my family if only they would be nice to me.

I am in the garden of our Dutch house with an Indonesian girl. She is actually leaving and I follow her but her brother also starts following us. He is scary with a very dark face but she is pretty and I try to talk to her but she leaves. I then try to message her on the phone she doesn't answer.

I am in the house of my uncle preparing for a journey and listen to his wife talking to a real estate agent. She treats him really bad but then my uncle picks up the phone and comes to an agreement about a villa. It sounds expensive but it is actually a good price for what I am used to up north.

I am in bed with a girl but cannot even look at his face. She is below me and I am just on top of her chest but cannot understand what makes me so horny. I cannot imagine she is giving me a blowjob since I have not showered and my penis must be very smelly even if it is only on her tits.

I am on a hill sitting with my Greek gay friend. The forest has been recently cut and we decide to walk to his native village. I find it very ugly but then I get my bike and we get on a road with people on horses and reach a very beautiful village with a water stream where we can get on a boat.

I am in a bathroom with a friend and she goes in the female toilette while I go in the one for males. I do not lock behind me and a big guy comes in. I then want to go out but he is a racist and tells me to go back to my country. I then explain to him that unlike him I am a European native.

I am in a meeting with a notary and he asks me about my ark. I then start drawing the position on the whiteboard but he gets busy talking to two other clients. As I finish my drawings I give them the full explanation on how to go from the town where we are up to the town of my ark.

I am in a workshop with three other guys. We are actually working together and each of us is busy on a machine. The one using the circular saw in the middle of the workshop announces that he wants to go working for a bigger company. I then warn him how hierarchical and toxic it can be.

I am getting in a dormitory with a friend and search in the dark the bed where a lady we know slept a few days earlier. We are searching for the alarm clock she used and find a nightstand with a lot of them. We check them one by one and finally find a pink clock with the time she woke up.

I am in a big warehouse when a man arrives with a camping table I lent him. It is folded and he wants to open it to show me that nothing is wrong with it. He even puts two extension panes in the middle but they don't seem to fit. I then help him to push all the corners inside the metal frame.

I am driving with my van in a parking lot but come to a gate. It opens automatically and I drive the van up a dirt road but it is too steep and I back up and look for a parking spot in a flat area. There is a French woman there who tells me that the machine for the parking ticket is out of order.

I am walking with my youngest son in a valley with very high mountains on each side. As it gets narrower I realize there are glaciers on the top and decide to walk back. There are many rocks hanging over us but we find a tunnel and end up in a village but there are also rocks hanging over it.

I am in the living room of our Dutch house watching television. As I flip through the channels I find one I didn't know of. It shows a man in bed with two women and I think that is more than enough but then it shows that there are two other women at the door on their way to the bed.

I am walking with my best friend to on a road next to a field and come to a neighborhood. There are bags for dog pooh standing outside and I get one before we turn around. My friend then tells me how he bought a blue fridge for very little money but it is really too little and I can't believe him.

I am in a Swiss village with my ex wife and still have to cross the mountains to make it to the Italian side. It is getting late and we finally get on the car and start driving on a road I know very well. It is not too long the ride but I let my ex at the wheel and I am getting very bored of our trip.

I am in our Dutch neighborhood and find a street I never paid attention to. The houses are not too old and look all the same but as I check more carefully they have some character to it. One in particular has the door open and the wind blows out a curtain making ti very attractive to live there.

I am in a parking lot near the sea and I realize that my step cousin is also with me. He has to sit in the back with my children and I don't know how he will manage but then I tell everyone to make it inside and see that my cousin is still a little boy. He can then play video-games with my kids.

I am in a park and reach a nice wooden bench where to rest. As I am about to sit I realize that there are a lot of bees flying around it. I then walk to the back of the bench and find the beehive hanging on it. I think of bringing my wasp killing lamp but then decide to leave the bees alone.

I am next to a big Chinese river looking at Indian people performing a purifying ritual in the water. My partner is next to me and she tells me how one of them convinced her to invest all our savings to buy a holly forest. She already went to a notary with him and I realize it was a scam.

I am following a man crossing into the Russian territory. The roads get very small but pretty and I see houses on each side. The man is hungry and wants a restaurant but there is none and just gets in one of the houses. A scary man promise to cook spaghetti for him first asks for his money.

I am in my children school having meeting with their teachers. In each classrooms there are parents preparing vegetarian food and see that there is also one using a big oven. She pulls out a large pan and find that it is filled with meat. I then wonder how she is received by the other parents.

I am in a dormitory with my spiritual friend. he just came back from a long trip around the world and brought some special seeds. He wants me to try them and I start searching in his bag but then realize that they could be hallucinogenics. I stop searching and just tell him he lost them.

I am in a restaurant with my old friends when my best friend also joins us. He is carrying two big melons and explain to us that he is now volunteering at a vegetable garden and got them for free. I then look at them and see that they have quite a hard skin and one is smaller than the other.

I am walking in a city and realize that it is getting dark. I want to go home but still have to find my children. As I turn around to see where they are I find some friends who invite me to go to a party with them. I really don't want to but decide to go for it anyway after I bring my kids to sleep.

I am in our Dutch house thinking about what to do with two old doors that are taking up space in our living room. One of them is broken but the other one has a lock I could reuse. It also doesn't work and I walk out with the two doors to throw them and find our street filled with containers.

I am laying in bed unable to sleep when my phone rings. It is a message from the son of my mountain neighbours who has been up all night working on a contract to sign between me and the relatives of our dead neighbour. We want to buy the barn they have inherited but need an agreement.

I am in bus traveling through a big French city. It is getting dark and I find that it was really boring but then see that we are traveling by a long mall made of silver. I then think that if I like to shop I would have enjoyed myself checking out what they sell but I just hate the experience.

I am in our mountain village waiting outside our neighbour home. As I peep inside I realize that her house is actually a big rock. I then look around and see that all houses are rocks and just tell my neighbour that we should just make more rock houses to boost some tourism in the area.

I am walking through a meadow and realize that I am back to a beach where I was a the beginning of my trip. I then think whether I should make a new film of the beach assuming that it hasn't really changed from the time I left it. As I get on top of a hill I see that there is thunderstorm over it.

I am in a hotel talking to two employees about a present I got from the manager. I can spend one night there for free but I only imagine myself with my headphones watching TV. I then ask if they have a special event coming up so that I can at least have something to do but they have nothing.

I am with my partner in a kitchen and she starts talking about how ugly and beautiful my ark is at the same time. I wonder why she started talking about it all of a sudden and then see through the window the ark comes out over the trees. She thinks it is tilted and I go out to check if it is true.

I am in an apartment high up on a tall condominium when the doorbell ring. It is a package and I manage to find the button to open the door and then run downstairs. I find a box filled with shoes my roommate has ordered but for each overweight person that gets them we have to pay a fine.

I am in my mountain village and realize that my friendly neighbours are bathing in a pool in front of my mean neighbours. There is a party inside their house and go in to check but there are too many boy scouts type of people. I then go out again and realize that our village has a lot of shops.

I am at a university waiting to meet a literature professor to discuss the application I wrote to become a doctorate student. I am very sure I will get the position and just line up in front of the reception but realize that they are many applicants and they have very specific books on the subject.

I am driving in a city and decide to turn left on a small road. I am not sure I did the right thing but then a car speed up behind me and I have to pull to the side to let it pass. Right after there is actually a prison where dangerous drivers are kept in stone coffins from which they cannot escape.

I am watching a movie about American soldiers on horse back camping in a forest. A foreign army suddenly shows up they get ready to charge but only one of them manages to get with his horse through. Suddenly they start shooting at him from behind but he only gets a bullet in his shoulder.

I am on a boat with my family and reach an Italian island. We get off and find that we are in an ancient city with a lot of sculptures. I want to film the main square but my youngest son has to pee and I wait with my daughter in the entrance of a museum that is too modern compared to the city.

I am in the countryside sitting on my tractor and talking to the architect that helped me building my ark. He has applied to get reviewed by a magazine and was summed twice for an interview did not show up. We then decide to try to have a new appointment and go to the office building.

I am with one of my Dutch neighbours outside his house and realize that there is an empty spot in front of the river. He could rent it to do windsurfing but we anyway go down to swim. As we go up again there are some other guys and one of them is very afraid and blocks the little staircase.

I am in a big furniture shop laying on a kitchen table trying to rest despite all the people walking around. A mother is also there with her handicap daughter and she puts also to rest next to me. As I am finally falling asleep the daughter gets on top of me to kiss me but the mother takes her.

I am in a mental institute waiting to be seen by a psychologist. I actually miss my turn and go to the secretary who send me in. I wait for an American patient to finish and then start my section but the psychologist is Italian and wants to know about my artwork but not about how I feel.

I am with partner checking out the old stable we just bought but I realize that on one side there is a newly built garage. I then check if I can go inside but end up in a bedroom where a couple is sleeping. I then realize that the stable is not entirely ours but that part belongs to the couple.

I am on a beach when an Indian family tells me how they are taking a speed boat to the archipelago. There are native people leaving there and they want them to bless their son. I then prepare him by sticking my finger up his butt. I should have done for a longer time but they leave.

I am in a train when a girl gives me a paper hat. As she leaves I just let it fall on the ground but a couple picks it up and gives it back to me. I assume they are Dutch and replay in their language that it is only paper but they are Dutch and I hear them saying that my English is very funny.

I am in a neighborhood where I am supposed to meet my stepfather but meet my best friend. He shows me how high he can go on a swing and then takes me to his new home. As we are talking his son runs out to a forest and my friend runs fast after him and tells him to stay near the house.

I am hiking in the mountains with a group of Polynesian people. We come to a Tibetan bridge and we need to cross it in a line. A guy stands behind a beautiful girl but I object saying that she should stay in front of her boyfriend since the latter is with us. Everyone agrees to my proposal.

I am picking up my daughter at school and find the grandmother of another kid blocking the door. I enter pushing her bag to the side and she gets angry with me. I first lie saying that my foot got stuck in the bag but then tell her that I am disturbed by her grandson harassing my daughter.

I am inside a car parked in an underground garage. I am trying to write but there are suddenly too many cars. I then realize that they are all parents coming to pick their children up from school and I also go to get my youngest son. I am actually too early but I decide to pick him up anyway.

I am on a beach and realize my daughter is helping out in a restaurant. We are not in the right place and she gets some money for her work before we start walking to another beach. We actually get to walk in a tunnel and can only see the beach through a window. I then try to film it.

I am walking through a station and find that my oldest son has been waiting for me. He is sitting on a little table and I notice he has been drawing. He is actually very good at it and I am surprised that all of my children have taken my talent although I remember he was the only one who didn't.

I am together with my Greek friend walking in the countryside and come an abandoned building. We then go to the top and find that is like a big wooden ship. As we sit on the edge it starts to spin very slowly and then gets up in the air. I can then see across the meadows the ocean.

I am on a stage watching with my partner a performance of a group of people. They are actually good and knows a lot of tricks. I am supposed to be next on stage but tell my partner I will never be able to compete with them and that I should cancel my performance. She agrees and we leave.

I am in a cottage right on the beach and the people living there tells me to pick up her daughter next door. I then walk down to the beach up a campsite where I used to go to when I was little. I see that they are building around it and feel quite sad. the daughter is sitting in a cafe and I lift her.

I am walking with my family through a forest. There is a hill on our right and I see a wild cow grazing. As we come closer I realize there are more cows but there is a fence protecting us. A huge and hairy cow is actually on the other side of the fence feeding her babies and we decide to stop.

I am sitting on the sofa of an apartment when my baker friend comes to sit with me. My partner is already sitting next to me and he gets to sit behind me. I am okay with it but then I feel he is getting a hard-on and I stand up and lock myself in the bathroom hoping he doesn't expect anything.

I am with my best friend in a garden and he tries to convince another friend to give me his car. I already bought it but we agreed to wait until the end of the year. My best friend then downloads a document on his phone to speed up the procedure. We sit with him to see what he has in mind.