

12_039: "an amazing amount of walking alone mostly from the metro station to my kid and his mother's flat in the wealthy part of town but also some exploring and recording of the run down industrial area where i am now moving and thus reflecting on this change also quite affected in may thinking by all my academic readings after a lecture in örebro university in the inland of sweden where i have also took a long night walk to the city now that i am more independent but also have far less securities and my future has not really any reference point"

18_037: "much time spent outside in nature mostly walking and thus much wind experienced aside for some days indoor and yet very mighty wind except for the one experienced in a small university town in the inland of the country where it was in fact quite powerful"

03_054: "listening allot of new music like while driving in the car or partying with friends in a few instances using the internet to play revolutionary songs but mostly the songs came from a trip on a russian cruise where popular songs from the last two decades were constantly being played in corridors, waiting halls but also bathrooms, some songs also were recognized from street musicians like a russian jazz band playing american hits and two gypsies playing old italian hits"

01_107: "the last period spent united with my family although silence has fallen between me and my now ex wife thus a paralysis of activities in the apartment despite I have still kept up with my digital archiving and much walking outside but also the building of a bed out of a door frame and on one occasion an excursion out with my kid with lighting of fire and barbecuing, aside from that back and forth to the university with the many transportation but also a few days in an other university the inland"

02_108: "a big shift now that after ten years since the very beginning of the project i have separated from my swedish girl and went to live in the suburbs thus dreaming several times about my new place, about different girls, potential new girlfriends but also much time spent commuting and thus several train based dreams with some fear about the actual suburb where i have moved that has a bad reputation for immigrant crime, some dreams related to university assignments and supervisors but also a bit of dreaming about my soon christmas holiday at my parents and in poland with jacek and some birds related dreams influenced by my fable writings and at last some influence from my new black room-mate from talking allot about his motherland gambia"

07_048: "leaving sweden after a party in the countryside where i met the girlfriend of a guy who used to come to my school in italy and then setting off to kaliningrad in russia meeting an egyptian guy also going to russia as is swedish working visa was expiring and then right in russia meeting some art curators one with romanian roots and the other with german all being relocated by the soviets to this non-land and then conducting a workshops with teenagers from the eastern block, a rather nice a diplomatic estonian and a girl from moskow but particularly a very nice girl from the northern karelia who spent a year in the united states and was much diplomatic but also much charming taking actor classes"

10_067: "right back from the russian trip now taking walks around the city and the suburbs where my kid leaves which i am about to leave for an industrial suburb down south which i also explore particularly when the snow comes and i take advantage of some beautiful days in which i also walk long distances to save money and get into some nice landscapes like a winter lake where i used to take my kid"

08_073: "in the old german prussia, now russian kalingrad doing a workshop and walking quite allot but really find quite little on the sidewalk aside for the city center and at night before the matrioska (old russian women with a handkerchief on their head) goes out and sweep the sidewalks, from prussia then going for a week to my native highland in the alps and picking a bit of trash in the touristic village to then return to sweden in our new apartment in a well-off island with really no much trash aside for the one i pick going to visit jacek in the center of town"

08_074: "still in sweden picking very little trash now that we live in the suburbs yet picking some when going downtown to rent movies at the library but then also finding a bit of trash during a boat trip around the baltic in tallinn and saint petersburg and helsinki, this despite the much snow which has really deteriorated the little i have found"

09_062: "the conflict continues in the middle east and particularly syria although between the rebels and the dictator's army although the media no longer put much attention on it, but on other casualties again striking the much hit philippines but also central america and other minor accidents in third world countries but particularly a fire in bangladesh killing many hundreds workers"

14_041: "now that i have moved to a new place in the southern suburbs several were the walks checking out the neighbourhood in minus degrees with frozen landscape and especially walking down the center of the town by the river, not to mention some evening walking to buy some grocery in the middle of town and then go to the station where to visit my kid in the north of stockholm several times a week, including few weeks with no money and trying to walk as much as possible, avoiding the public transport and enjoying the polar weather, thus also walking very long along rivers and bridges to save a few crowns also while carrying presents to my kid like new skies and shoes, ending up at last in a conference in copenhagen where i took a pilgrimage to the mermaid crossing the whole town from the central station and back, then also visiting an art museum in the country and exploring the shore despite all the rain and humidity and finally with some colombian friends taking me for a walk to an anarchist island in the city"

18_038: "minus degrees but rather settled weather to which i have been exposed quite much in my outdoor walking except a day spent at home with a very strong wind outside bringing a powerful snow storm"

16_042: "a strong setting in of the winter with the first snow turning the landscape all white and keeping up for several days with eventually a few all blue days and sunny and minus degrees much reminding me of my native alps despite the snow being very dry and the weather at times getting warmer but then going back to something they here call wolf winter from which i took a three days break by coming to the rainy and far more humid denmark for a conference where the snow has quickly melted"

07_026: "still unemployed and taking my kid on nice walks by the lake where occasional clouds comes despite the very nice autumn and some clouds also while working on my vegetable land at his grandparents' farm, still imagining allot of flying birds as birds indeed in this season are migrating away from the approaching winter"

05_037: "the character of this fable is based in venice and her longing for the mountains is actually my longing to my native alps from which i try to return after the failed swedish experience with my ex wife, their feminist obsession with masculinity, the whiteness also increased by the recent snow and the blackness really much represented by my new black room mate from gambia"

04_032: "rather pure air despite the fact that i am now living in a more industrial part of town and have in the last month covered big distances on foot but the cold and nice weather has kept the air rather clean apart for some time spent in copenhagen with much polluted traffic and people smoking everywhere and then another period in italy having to walk from the airport to bergamo with quite a big load of traffic but then again being up the alps and breath pure air particularly at very high altitudes like over two thousand meters with much thin air"
