

17_086: "in sweden annotating the clouds seen in the sky on my way to work and in djursholm attending august seeing many animals and sculptures"

13_105: "attempting a spiral closing in itself with no space in between but not really succeeding in rendering the idea once the painting has been filtered and realizing that all these painting decorating the sides of my cathedral represents the water of a noah like ark"

10_146: "public spaces captured while waiting for little livia to be born taking small walks with myrthe and alone enjoying some sun particularly next to the river waal and later capturing the area around the hospital spending the first nights at the hospital before going home to culemborg and pretty much staying there and taking filming both in the town and along the river"

06_075: "taking an extensive bike ride with august in a beautiful winter day in the netherlands discovering new places and keeping a low but constant pace also using a normal city bike and not my racing bike and getting wind and some saddle pain towards the end"

13_106: "painting executed in the little time left while attending little livia and being often interrupted but nonetheless managing to keep a simple surface without too much depth and the basic colors"

01_170: "the month in which my daughter livia was born and month characterized with a lot more utensils used for example to feed her or anyway to clean the house and give her small baths with a high number of objects used but also some nice days spent biking or walking with august and still managing to keep up with my own project despite the nights trying to pacify crying livia"

04_103: "a month awaiting for little livia to be born and only breathing the traffic walking on the small dutch dikes and later after many days spent home attending the new baby inhaling some traffic emissions biking with august and walking with him in utrecht"

08_181: "gray and often rainy weather picking trash during an exceptionally sunny cold day in amsterdam after accompanying august to the airport and also picking some trash while in culemborg talking small walks with pregnant myrthe"

08_182: "still picking trash while taking small walks through the small historical center in culemborg with myrthe very pregnant and unable to go too far"

08_183: "picking trash around the hospital awaiting for myrthe and newly born livia to be released from the hospital and also picking trash while with august walking extensively in culemborg with the wind disseminating garbage everywhere and in utrecht"

08_184: "trash collected walking around with august in culemborg and in a nice sunny day walking extensively through amsterdam after dropping him at the airport"

13_107: "painting executed again in the free time while looking after baby livia and managing a more dynamic shape with a full palette of primary colours still however refining the edges on my computer"

14_117: "walking with very pregnant myrthe first in culemborg and then for the first time pushing new born livia on a stroller also with august on my side and with him walking in utrecht beside taking livia for walks on the dikes and a solitary walk in amsterdam after dropping august at the airport"

18_114: "a month with only a few days without wind bringing at last some blue sky and sun also with the birth of livia and becoming quite subtle during august stay here in holland and very siberian cold and strong after he left"

13_108: "now finding more time to paint with livia sleeping during the day yet keeping the paintings very simple and with few colours going for one spiral well inscribed in the square panel"

09_141: "several minor casualties all around the world and particularly in europe while hundreds died in the besieged neighborhood of the syrian capital reading the news mostly on my phone while in holland"